TOPOLOBAMPO.

INTERESTING LETTER FROM A PERSON ON THE SPOT.

Description of the Settlement—Enthusiastic Colonists—Everyone Busy—Natural Productions—Some Doubts as to Permanent Success.

The following interesting letter from Topolobampo appears in a recent number of the New York Sun:

At a point where less than two months since, the land was covered with chaparral and cactus, is the beginning of a colony like unto which there is none other, if the enthusiasm of its founders shall be kept alive and the principals upon which it is based shall prove correct. The purpose is to establish a permanent colony in the community with all the accessories of an advanced civilization, diversified industries organized upon a large scale, with railroads constructed and inter state and foreign commerce, organized under the belief of those engaged, that the colony will in time swell into the proportions of a State.

Topolobampo is a bay in the State of Sinaloa, on the Gulf of California, midway between Guaymas on the north and Mazatlan on the south, in Northwestern Mexico, being about 200 miles distant from either place. The bay contains over 50 square miles of area, and is divided into two sections, the inner of which is a capacious harbor, on the north bank of which is the site of the projected city. Extent on miles of the present date, Topolobampo Bay, is not a bay at all. For many years it was known only as the resort of smugglers. Some 14 years since a young man engaged as civil engineer, surveying routes for the Mexican Railway system, discovered the bay, and finding there was a depth of water equal to 21 feet, located the site at the entrance, with deep water extending back, he thought that he saw a situation that opened up commercial advantages not inferior to any port of the Pacific coast for general commerce, and greatly superior advantages for transcontinental traffic.

But, further, he believed that the opportunity was afforded to build up a model colony, based upon a system of integral co-operation—a plan of industrial and social organization which he framed in his own mind, and which he believed would eliminate poverty and guarantee to all within the scope of its influence not only the means of self-sustenance, but in the end give the opportunity for the highest development of moral, intellectual and physical, of which each was capable. For in this colony the association of large estates by individuals is to be rendered impossible, and yet each and every one will have the advantage of concentrated wealth in the hands of the corporation, and eventually the State, which shall throw its protecting mantle over all.

Such is the scheme presented by Mr. Albert K. Owen of Chester, Pa., which has aroused day dreams of other a realization of an Utopia on the western coast of Mexico. Seeing as he thought, the possibilities, Mr. Owen began drawing attention to the place and his proposed enterprise.

The commercial advantages were so far perceived that the United States government, through his instigation, made a hydrographic survey of the coast, and the approaches to it, and a number of leading men were induced to cause surveys to be made for an extensive system of railways, with the view of opening up transcontinental traffic. This being a part of Mr. Owen's scheme, he was able to obtain, in connection with the project, valuable concessions from the Mexican government, by which, for 10 years, no import or export duty, or even a small import and export duty upon whatever is necessary, and the right to build, within the same period, lines of railroad nearly 3000 miles in length. In time he was able to arouse an interest in the project of colonization.

Among the few who were attracted by it were Mr. Edward Howland and his wife, Mrs. Mary Howland, of Hingham, Mass., both writers of very progressive views on questions of finance and social reorganization. Nearly two years since they began the publication of a little paper called Credit Foncier of Sinaloa, which became the organ of the movement, and up to this time 5000 men and women have subscribed for shares in the enterprise. In the meantime a char was established at Colorado to the Credit Foncier Company, and directors were duly elected and preparations were made to break ground for the colony during the past autumn.

During December I was at Guaymas when several bodies of colonists arrived from Minnesota, Colorado, Maine, Chicago and Wyoming, with Topolobampo as their objective point. They came to the conclusion that their approach had been announced at Guaymas, which is the terminal point of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway system. A schooner and steamer were chartered to convey them down the coast to their destination. They were full of enthusiasm and with bright hopes of happiness in their new homes to be created, and I asked them whether they had the privilege of accompanying them to Topolobampo. We arrived at the bay and found that an advance party of colonists from California and Oregon, numbering 27, had arrived in the latter part of November and were in camp on the north shore of the strait that connects the two sections of the bay. Others have arrived since, and at the present time over 300 people are on the ground, and to this number will be added 100 more within the next 30 days, making 400 in all, of whom 75 are women and about the same number of children.

The ground was cleared of its undergrowth for the beginning of the settlement, and tents were pitched for the accommodation of the colonists. As they came into a previously unpopulated country they had to live with the Indians, who were numerous (except meats, fish, eggs and tropical fruit), and the necessary comforts of domestic life. They have within them many pursuits and trades, and it was but a short time before they were surrounded with all that was necessary for their daily needs. As they arrived in the dry season, they needed no shelter from the rain. The situation of the place near the shores of the tropics, made out-door life more comfortable and healthful than life within doors at the homes which they had left. Large numbers of men went to work to clear the way for the first section of the projected railway to extend from the harbor 35 miles north to the Fuerte River, and on the completion and equipment of it within two years, half from the present time the colony will have the benefit of a controlling interest in the stock of the company to own it. Others are preparing to erect buildings for permanent abodes and for public use, one of which is to be the custom-house for the Mexican government, through which merchandise is to pass for the use of people without the colony. Others find a good many of them, are breaking ground for the sowing of seed for crops to be raised during the coming season for the sustenance of the people, and perhaps to sell outside.

No more desirable situation could be found for the beginning of the enterprise. There is but little variation in the temperature throughout the year. The range of the mercury in the shade in noon in summer is 86°, and in the winter 62°. At night cool breezes prevail, which enable one to sleep with comfort. The harbor will float vessels of the greatest depth. Edible fish abound in the waters, green turtles and their eggs invite the epicure to feast upon them, and I am told that the best quality of oysters is to be found in large quantities, but a few miles distant in other waters. The soil is a dark, vegetative mould, capable of growing the cereals and fruits of the temperate zone, as well as products of a semi-tropical character. After describing the constitution of the colonizing project, particulars of which have been published in THE TIMES, the correspondent proceeds:

"The world in the character of the colonists. The great portion are young men and women under 40. Now and then a patriarchal face is to be seen, but a marked feature of all is the evidence of intelligence and deep thought. They seem to be practical in their ideas. Thus far no cranks have shown themselves among them. Strong men, strong women, and strong characters. Many are persons of superior education, and who have been successful in the homes they have left, but who have become identified with the movement because of the opportunities it seems to them to afford for a more harmonious and pleasant social life."

It is useless to prognosticate the result of the movement. At the time varied industries for a self-sufficient community are impossible. The colonists have neither the capital to erect the necessary buildings nor the numbers on the ground. It will probably be many years before they can establish all the industries necessary to supply the products for their use without depending upon imports. They will depend upon imports for some time, but the cost will be prohibitive. The colonists have neither the capital to purchase the machinery, nor have they numbers on the ground. FARM AND RANGE.

A HEN AND HER CHICKS.

Peculiar Effect of an Electric Lamp on Mother and Brood.
(Chicago News.)

A motherly, fussy old hen, with seven noisy chicks, boards in the show-window of Madison-street furniture store. The window is paved with sand, sawdust and gravel. The seven chicks eat oatmeal out of a hat-box cover, while the mother consumes corn and gruel with interest and relish. Together they form quite a contrast to the busy scenes of city life, and crowd of curious, gaping people stand in front of the show-window all day and even to the night.

Two weeks ago, when the family first moved in the mother had a black eye, a rumpant "cluck," and the chicks were pale and listless. Now, however, signs of city dissipation are visible on all. The hen has degenerated into querulous cackle, and the anxious matron has grown nervous in her manner and erratic in her movements. The chicks, in their uncertain wanderings over the sawdust floor and their wary-eyed contemplations of the observers, seem to remind one of very young men who are beginning to feel a slight of it among garters and consuming small beer and cigar-puff's pop. A big electric lamp which hangs directly over the window is to blame if all.

The old hen, with the obstinacy of her sex, has been going through the same performance at 7 o'clock every evening since she moved to the city. At that hour she runs around her own scenes, the chicks bleating for a minute or so and then calmly huts down. Then by a series of clucks, ten practiced by all well-organized mother-hens, she calls her brood about her, ruffles her feathers and tells the youngsters it is time to go to bed. Of course, the little fellows are not a bit sleepy, but there is no doubt the maternal authority is in full swing. Houses and lots everywhere; cheap and easch terms.

FIGHTING FOR FISH.

Bayard Says He Has Not Backed Down.

In the Dispute Over British Vessels Seized in Alaskan Waters.

The House Committee Urged to Hurry Up the Retaliation Bill.

The Administration to be Consulted Before Action is Taken on the Measure—A Passion-Bill Approved—The Public Debt Statement.

By Telegraph to The Times.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—[By the Associated Press.] Secretary Bayard was shown last night a published statement to the effect that he had sent a dispatch to Minister Phelps, informing him that the British schooners seized by a revenue steamer in Alaskan waters for illegal fishing were wrongfully seized, and that they will be given up, and that proper damages will be paid for their detention. The Secretary said: "I have no knowledge of such a dispatch. I have written none of such nature."

WANT RETALIATION.

In the Senate today Mr. Hoar presented resolutions of the Massachusetts Legislature concerning the treatment of American fishing vessels in Canadian waters, declaring in favor of retaliation to the extent of denying to Canadian vessels in American ports the right to purchase supplies and the eventual exclusion of all Canadian products by land or sea until the offensive legislation and action of the Canadian authorities are discontinued. It was referred.

ALARMED AT ENGLAND'S ATTITUDE.

Mr. Lawler of Illinois offered the following preamble and resolution in the House today:

WHEREAS, The bellicose tone of the Canadian press and the announcement that Great Britain will shortly dispatch a fleet of warships to the vicinity of our northeastern coast-line, indicate hostility toward the United States growing out of our position on the fisheries question; and

WHEREAS, Admin. Porter has directed attention to the fact that 27 of our Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific harbors are absolutely defenseless, and that 11 of them, towit: New York, San Francisco, Boston, Lakeport, Hampton Roads, New Orleans, Philadelphia, Washington, Baltimore, Portland (Me.) and Rhode Island's ports on Narragansett Bay, are in urgent need of immediate defense; and

WHEREAS, It is alleged that Great Britain and Canada are in possession of charts and exemplifications of all our harbors and coast defenses; therefore

Resolved, that the President be and is hereby requested as Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy to inform the House of Representatives at an early day, what steps, if any, are necessary, in his judgment, to provide for this emergency.

The resolution was referred.

Mr. Boutelle of Maine offered a resolution directing the Committee on Foreign Affairs to report back forthwith to the Senate Resolution Bill.

Mr. Lawrence of Massachusetts presented the resolutions of the Massachusetts Legislature in favor of the Retaliation Bill.

THE COMMITTEE CONSULTING.

The action taken by Messrs. Belmont, Clements and Rice, the sub-committee of the Committee on Foreign Affairs on the fisheries question is understood to be as follows: The majority of the sub-committee felt that whatever course was taken by the House would be determined by the strength of the interests involved, not only with the knowledge, but with the full assent and active concurrence of the Administration. They, therefore, determined to forward copies of the Edmunds joint resolution as passed by the Senate, the Gorman Retaliatory Bill as introduced into the Senate and the Belmont Retaliatory Bill as reported by the Select Committee and Secretary Manning.

Secretary Manning is specifically asked for an expression of his views and preference on the bills submitted as bearing upon the interests committed by law to his supervision, and both the Secretary of the Treasury and the Secretary of State are asked to suggest any modification which may befit them in either measure. The earliest possible reply is solicited. There is an unauthorized whisper to the effect that one reason for this course has been the fact that the recent action of the Senate on certain privileged questions has been represented by the Administration as having been taken in violation of long-established usage as to consultation with the State Department, and the House committee determined to stand right on the record in this regard.

NATIONAL NOTES.The Public Debt Statement for January—Brief Mention.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—[By the Associated Press.] The public debt statement to be issued tomorrow will show a decrease of about $900,000 in debt since January 1st. The receipts during January were $700,000, being about $400,000 more than the receipts for the same month last year. Expenditures for January, 1887, were $80,000,000, being $3,000,000 less than the expenditures for January, 1886.

APPROVED.
The President today approved the act granting pensions to soldiers and sailors of the Mexican war.

APPOINTED.
The President today appointed Robinson M. Jones to be postmaster at Chico, Cal.

The English Grain Market.

London, Feb. 1.—The Mark Lane Express, in its weekly review of the British grain trade, says: "Deliveries of English wheat continue to be in bad condition, making values generally lower. Sound wheat, however, maintains rates. The usual comparison of ours with English wheat is not given this week. Country flour is cheaper, owing to the excessive supply of foreign brands. Receipts of breadstuff at London during the week equalled 108,385 quarters. The wheat was mostly American. Corn is cheap. Oats have declined 3 pence. Linseed has gained 6 pence. Seven cargoes of wheat arrived; five were sold, eight were withdrawn, and three remained. At today's market there was no demand for wheat; for corn was 6 pence lower; English corn was in bad condition, was unsaleable; flour was in large supply and 6 pence lower; corn was quiet; barley was weaker; oats were dull, and 6 pence cheaper; linseed was firm and advanced 6 pence."

Celestial High Rollers Raided.

New York, Jan. 31.—No. 566 Fulton street, Brooklyn, has been known as a Chinese tea store. Last night the police battered down the doors and captured 74 Chinese who were gambling and $500 in cash. Three prisoners had $7000 each and two $5000 each. They came from San Francisco, St. Louis, Chicago, Pittsburg, Newark and Paterson, N. J., for the purpose of breaking the "bank."

MINISTER PENDLETON.What He Thinks of the Situation in Europe.

New York, Jan. 31.—[By the Associated Press.] Hon. George H. Pendleton, United States Minister to Germany, who arrived here on the steamer Saale yesterday, was seen by a reporter today. Pendleton was asked as to his views of the possibility of war in Europe and the general feeling in regard to it in the German capital. He replied that he had been on the ocean for nearly two weeks; hence he was not informed as to recent developments in this matter. Since he landed Mr. Pendleton had not been able to catch up on the news. "The situation," he remarked, "when I left Berlin was very much unchanged. The powers of Europe, from a general feeling of insecurity, have been making immense preparations. There are tremendous military works and armaments on every side. I heard Von Moltke say that it was a condition of affairs that most have sold out. It may have changed since then. The Reichstag was dissolved on the question of the Military Bill on the Friday before I left Berlin. There was nothing new before I sailed."

Mr. Pendleton said that he could not see that any one in Germany desired war. In fact, every effort was made to avoid it. The old Emperor was especially anxious to keep the peace during his time. Bismarck was not ready for war now. He would not be ready until the Military Bill had been passed and the army reorganized. "In fact," added the ambassador, "it seems to me that Bismarck would accord heartily with any proposition for peace with honor. The Emperor will, in a short time, celebrate his 60th birthday. Berlin, Jan. 32.—[By Cable.] The committee of the National Liberal party has issued a manifesto to the electors. They say: "Never since the Franco-German war has the danger of a great conflict been so near. No statesman can form any certain conclusion as to the future, even for a few weeks. The peace of Europe rests at this moment solely upon the strength, readiness for action and moral trustworthiness of the German army. The National Liberals are confident that the voice of universal suffrage will pronounce the right decision. An unpropitious issue of the election will bring down upon the country war with all its terrors."

The Post, the semi-official organ, in a leading article headed "On the Edge of the Knife," says: "The position of Gen. Boulanger is now not only strengthened, but becoming unassassable."

LOST AT SEA.

Three Hundred Emigrants Find Death Beneath the Waves.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—[By Cable.] The ship Kapunda, which left London December 11th for Western Australia with emigrants, came into collision near the coast of Brazil with an unknown vessel, and was sunk. Three hundred of those on board were drowned. The remainder were saved, and have arrived at Blair Athol. The Kapunda was an iron ship of 1084 tons. She was commanded by Capt. Masson.

ODESSA, Jan. 31.—The British steamer Blair Athol has founder in the Black Sea. Twenty persons were drowned.

FOREIGN NOTES.

Belfast Again the Scene of Religious Riots.

BELFAST, Jan. 31.—[By Cable.] There was terrible rioting in the Peter's Hill, Carrick Hill and Shank's Hill districts of this city on Saturday night. The trouble originated through soldiers belonging to the West Surrey regiment insulting a number of Catholic civilians. The latter retaliated by stoning the soldiers, many of whom were injured. Last night rioting was renewed and the police and mob exchanged shots. Nobody was killed, but many persons received gunshot wounds and a large number of others were more or less bruised by being struck by stones.

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Jan. 31.—Dougherty, the escaped lunatic, who has been wandering about in the neighborhood heavily armed and keeping people here in constant fear of their lives, appeared in the city yesterday. His sudden appearance created great excitement. Constable Jewett, with a companion, tried to capture Dougherty and ordered him to surrender. Jewett's companion fired a shot over the lunatic's head. This seemed to excite Dougherty and he covered Jewett with his gun and prepared to fire when the latter, to save himself, opened on Dougherty with his rifle, shooting him through the head and thigh. SANTA ANA.

RAILROAD NOTES—THE ORANGE CROP.
SANTA ANA, Jan. 27.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] Last Sabbath afternoon a special train on the Southern Pacific brought to our town some railroad magnates and two surveying parties, with a view of stealing a march on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe line to the east. Monday morning the line for their railroad extension across the Spurgeon tract, and thereby shut out the other company from this parcel of land, on which they intended to locate their depot. The Atchison folks, who have never yet been caught napping, were posted on the S.P.'s movements in time to remove from their camp near San Juan, a large force of men, who arrived here early Monday morning, and at once pitched their tents on the selected tract and at an early hour on Monday morning began the work of grading. In the mean time Hon. William Spurgeon was notified at Sacramento as to the situation. He at once came down, and the result is that the Atchison Company will trample their McHenry property to 10 acres of the Spurgeon tract, and hold a deed for the same. This seems to settle the question as to the ownership of that tract. Both companies have had out surveying parties since, the Southern Pacific Company crossing Spurgeon's place just west of the land in question to El Monte street, and then following the creek for some distance to the east, but I am told they afterward took up their stakes on the street, and are now seeking another route, south of the line selected by the Atchison folks. There have been many rumors afloat, but the above statement of the case seems to reveal the true situation as near as we can get it by diligent inquiry. One thing is settled, and that is Atchison's claim to the land between Santa Ana and San Juan, which will be an important station on their new line of railroad. Last night several teams came in from the north loaded with camp equipage and grading tools. They are supposed to have come from the camps in the Santa Ana Cañon, and are here to begin work for the Atchison folks. If such be the case, we will soon see the road ready for the rails in that direction.

Rental estate sales continue. The Herson tract has just sold to Eastern parties. A stranger has just bought the Dr. Bulson house and six lots in Tustin, and promises the people here a first-class butcher-shop soon. The land company of that place are about to let the contract for building their new hotel. Two fruit-growing houses are now being built near the depot. El Monte, though it will take a great deal of W. H. Hartling, has enough of a large per cent. of oranges in this valley, and will ship about 100 carloads. Already picking has begun, and several carloads have been shipped by the different packing companies. The full amount of water in the ditches is being used by irrigators. The building boom continues, and the new hotel is going right up. Weather delightful, and everybody seems to be happy, hopeful and contented with the outlook.

The first prices showed irregular changes from yesterday's market. The market, however, was on small fractions either way. A few slight advances were made in early dealings, but very soon yielded, and under the lead of Jersey Central, Lehigh and Anthracite, and Standard Oil, showed decided losses during the first half hour. The market thereafter was extremely dull, without feature of any kind, and but insignificant movements in values, although there was a wide range of small gains and losses. Some life into transactions. A decided break took place before 2:15, and later the market sagged off small fractions, in addition, and closed weak, general declines in fractions better than the lowest figures of the day.
